

PACKING LIST

Downrange will provide all necessary field and tactical EQ, your ACU uniform top, rain gear, and a fleece jacket should you need one at night. We tried to keep your personal packing list short. The following items we felt would be best brought by you for your comfort and size accuracy. Please keep in mind you have 3.5 days plus your travel days, so pack accordingly.

Clothing

Shoes. Pants, Socks Underwear. That's it. Please see our suggestions.

Hiking / Trail Boots

You will want a good pair of hiking or tactical boots since the walking will be in various terrain and they will get wet. We recommend at least 3/4 height with Moisture-wicking and quick-drying features. We wear Salomon or Merrell. But you should get what ever is most comfortable for you. BREAK THEM IN!

Socks

Get 5 pairs of good socks that do a decent job keeping your feet from sweating. Something like Nike Dryfit works well. They will get wet so you will want spares, avoid cotton.

Pants

2-3 each Khaki lightweight outdoor/hiking pants are the uniform. At least 2 pair. 3 if you like clean pants everyday.

Belt

A simple nylon web belt black or green will work.

Under-Layers

4 breathable athletic lightweight short-sleeve tops and underwear like you would run in—dark colors please. Temps are nice in the day but can be cool (40's) at night. So if you want a long sleeve, bring that too. Please bring appropriate colors, black, tan, dark green OD green, grey as opposed to 80's neon. Under Layer leggings are optional. If you tend to get cold at night then bring a pair of running tights to wear under your khaki pants.

Toiletries and Personal Items

Pack items that you would normally travel with. You are staying in a very nice lodge every night so you can expect normal hotel amenities. Additional items we recommend you include:

- Wear a watch. Being on time is crucial.
- Baby wipes travel size
- Sunscreen travel size
- Motrin or Advil if you tend to ache or get altitude headaches.
- Airborne Vitamin C tablets 1X day work well to keep you healthy.

Salomon

Merrell

Nike

Leggings

Khakis

Short Sleeve Tees

Nylon Web Belt